Biden USCIS nominee called for pausing border patrol funding

Ur Jaddou is Biden's nominee to head the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

'Typical Democrat response' to throw more money at border crisis: Rep. Malliotakis

Rep. Nicole Malliotakis, R-N.Y., says the solution to the border crisis is to reinstate Trump-era policies that were reversed by the Biden administration.

President Biden's nominee to head up the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) once called for pausing Customs and Border Protection (CBP) funding during the Trump administration.

Ur Jaddou is the current director of Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Watch at America's Voice, a pro-amnesty nonprofit, as well as an adjunct professor at the American University School of Law. Biden announced her nomination on Monday.

Jaddou took aim at the department's immigration agencies during the Trump era, calling for Congress to pause CBP's funding last July until the agency "stops attacking peaceful protesters around the country" and has "real reform and meaningful accountability."

She also referred to CBP as the "personal militia" to former President Donald Trump.

"As our states, cities and towns are begging for more funding to stave off an economic collapse in the midst of a once-in-a-century pandemic, CBP has the audacity to propose moving money around, defying Congressional opposition so that their agents can continue to be the personal militia of the President," wrote Jaddou.

Jaddou was also quoted in the Cronkite News last April claiming that Trump was using the COVID-19 pandemic as an excuse to turn people away at the southern border.

"That was a goal from Day One, and he found the perfect opportunity to do it," Jaddou told the Cronkite News.

Additionally, America's Voice — where Jaddou works — has in the past called for all families held in migrant facilities to be "released" and referred to US Immigration and Custom Enforcement (ICE) as a "rogue agency."

America's Voice also attacked the press and media pundits who have labeled the border situation a "crisis."

The White House did not immediately respond to Fox News' request for comment.

We all saw what happened when many politicians supported the defunding of the police and the crime that followed. That same thing would happen if Border Patrol is also defunded. But then most of the people who is calling for this defunding already have the means to provide their won security while ...See more

July until the agency "stops attacking peaceful protesters around the country"

If those were peaceful protests then WW2 was a minor disagreement.

Jaddou is not qualified for the position based on her past comments and positions on immigration.

Where do they find these people? Is there no longer vetting?

The only vetting Biden does is the individual must have an education background from a Progressive education system (propaganda) and be a woman (usually of color) but in this case, SHE is referred to in her Biography as a MAN.

Biden will keep on until he has nor CBP agents on the southern border. Then he will find another job for the few ICE agents that are there. Thus giving all the illegals free reign to come in and go where they want to go. It would not surprise me if he would not have transportation to take them whe...See more

This wanton disregard for our border protection should be grounds for impeachment.

I agree. The #1 job of the President is to protect the US from harm, which obviously Blundering Biden is incapable of doing partially due to his incompetence and then picking ignoramuses.
